Lisa,

I'm not sure how far into editing you may be, but in case I've happened to catch you in time, I've attached scrubbed versions of the first and second claims papers. For the purposes of keeping track of line edits, it would be great if you could track changes on these, instead of on the first versions I sent. (You'll see that the first also includes some updated information on the personal injury claims, and on the claims figures more generally.)

I'll scrub the other papers now, and then turn to finalizing some of the exhibits.
